- All gross income is adjusted with a 4% disregard.
- Families with adjusted gross income below 100% of the Federal Poverty Level (FPL) do not have a required co-payment.
- Families with adjusted gross income between 100-105% FPL have a co-payment of $10.00 per month.
- Families with adjusted income over 105% of the FPL have a co-payment calculated by subtracting 105% of the FPL from the applicant's gross monthly income.
- Co-payments remain the same, regardless of the cost of care or what type of care is selected.
- Co-payments are graduated and capped not to exceed 15%.
- Eliminates the "cliff" affect for families at the higher end of the sliding fee scale who are generally not eligible for other types of assistance such as housing, medical or food stamps.
